Hike Aids are prepared and published by the Greater Los Angeles Area Council-High Adventure Team (GLAAC-HAT). Their purpose is to provide the adult Leader with literature for planning and conducting a High Adventure Program, without duplicating that which is available from the BSA- National Council and from other commercial sources. They supplement the syllabuses given to participants at High Adventure training events.

This cover and index are for Hike Aids that are available as of this date. All Hike Aids are available at the GLAAC-HAT web site (<http://glaac-hat.org/HikeAids.html>).

The GLAAC-HAT practice is to periodically review its Hike Aids and to revise and reissue them when necessary to remain current and relevant. A comment that the revisions are maintenance in nature means that they are likely to involve matters of style, etc.; a person may continue to use the earlier Hike Aid, rather than replacing it. However, when the changes are substantive, the earlier version is superseded and is to be replaced by the current revision.
